

Irving, TX – CUDA, known as a leading brand in the world of filet knives and fishing tools, has gone electric. The all-new CUDA Electric Filet Knife delivers top-notch performance while offering mobility previously unseen in the electric knife market.

“The CUDA Electric Filet Knife features a Type C fast charging USB port that allows you to charge on the go,” says CUDA brand manager Vince Borges. “There’s no need to hunt down a 12V DC power supply or hope the charge you gave it at home lasts the entire trip. You can literally charge it on the boat. Pair that with an 18-month warranty and it makes this hard to pass up for any angler who can appreciate a great filet knife.”

The CUDA Electric Filet Knife comes with both a 6” and 8” blade, allowing for quick-change versatility. Housed in a luxurious EVA case, the knife will include 2 batteries that can each operate up to 87 minutes on a full charge.

Retailing at $199.99, the CUDA Electric Filet Knife delivers unmatched performance at a killer price. A plug-in version of the CUDA filet knife is also available, offering the same exceptional performance for only $74.99.
